Non-Personal Information We Collect by Automated Means And How We Use It

We collect certain information by automated means when you visit the Platform. Much of this information is collected through the use of third-party tracking services, which includes Google Analytics. The information collected may include usage information, such as the numbers and frequency of users to the Platform, pages visited, web browsing histories, social networking activities and similar data. For example, we automatically gather the number and frequency of visitors to this site. This collective, aggregated data helps us determine how much our visitors use parts of the Platform, and do internal research on our users' demographics, interests, and behavior to better understand and serve you. When gathered, this data is used in the aggregate, and not in a manner that is intended to identify you personally. This type of aggregate information may be shared with third parties at any time. In addition to the third-party tracking services mentioned above, we also collect this information through various other means, including "cookies," "web beacons", IP addresses and other means, as further explained below.

Cookies and Web Beacons: Like most websites, we utilize “cookies” and “web beacons” to, among other things, track usage and trends, allow you to navigate quickly through our Platform, facilitate the login processes, allow you to personalize your experience, store your settings and improve the quality of our Platform. We also use cookies to collect Platform usage information, which helps us improve our Platform experiences by measuring which areas are of greatest interest to users. Further, we may use cookies and cookie-equivalent technologies to increase the security of the Platform. We do not store unencrypted personally identifiable information in the cookies.

Cookies are small strings of data that are sent by the Platform to your browser and then stored by your browser on your computer, mobile phone, or other device, and allow us to recognize you as a user when you return to the Platform using the same device and web browser. Most web browsers automatically accept cookies, but it is possible to change your browser setup or apply other means so that it does not accept cookies. However, rejecting cookies may prevent you from taking advantage of certain portions of the Platform.

We use both “persistent” and “session” cookies. Persistent cookies are set once you have logged into the Platform and will allow us to recognize you as an existing user the next time you access such that you will not need to log-in before you use the features and services. However, regardless of the placement of a persistent cookie on your computer, in order to access or change any private information in your account or to use certain Interactive Pages of the Platform, you may be required to use your log-in credentials. Session cookies are used to identify a particular visit to the Platform and expire after the elapse of a set period or when you close your web browser. We may use different technologies to place such cookies.

Web beacons are very small images or small pieces of data embedded in images, also known as “pixel tags,” “GIFs,” or “clear GIFs,” that can recognize cookies, the time and date a page is viewed, a description of the page where the pixel tag is placed, and similar information from a computer or device.

Cookies, web beacons and other technical methods may involve the transmission of information either directly to us or to another party authorized by us to collect information on our behalf. Cookies and web beacons do not personally identify SOLEIF users.

We may authorize third parties to place or recognize a unique cookie on your browser to serve you with advertisements or to optimize the Platform. Any information provided to third parties through such cookies will not include personally identifiable information but rather only aggregated anonymous information (e.g. your geographic location) to enhance your user experience by providing you with more relevant advertising.

Most browsers will tell you how to stop accepting new cookies, how to be notified when you receive a new cookie, and how to disable existing cookies. Please note, however, that without cookies you may not be able to take full advantage of all the features on our Platform. Our cookies do not gather personally identifiable information.

Log files, IP Addresses, Java Script, Analytics and other Tracking Information: Adoption of communications standards on the internet and our use of standard analytical tools such as Google Analytics result in or may lead to the automatic receipt and tracking of (i) the URL of the website from which you came and the website to which you are going when you leave the Platform; (ii) the internet protocol (“IP”) address of your computer (or the proxy server you use to access the World Wide Web); (iii) your computer operating system and type of web browser you are using; (iv) email patterns; (v) your mobile device (including your UDID) and mobile operating system (if you are accessing the Platform using a mobile device), (vi) your ISP or your mobile carrier’s name.

Additionally, advertisers may receive the URL of the page you were on when you click on an ad on the Platform. The link between your IP address and your personally identifiable information is not shared with third parties without your permission

Do Not Track Notice

Some web browsers incorporate a “Do Not Track” feature that signals to websites that you visit that you do not want to have your online activity tracked. How browsers communicate and respond to the Do Not Track signal is not yet uniform. For this reason, like many web websites, the Platform does not currently respond to or alter its practices when it receives a Do Not Track signal. Please note that third parties may collect personal information about your online activities over time and across different websites when you visit our Platform or other online websites and services. To find out more about “Do Not Track,” you may wish to visit <http://www.allaboutdnt.com>.

Except as otherwise stated herein, we do not sell or rent your personally identifiable information to third parties. We may share your personally identifiable information only with our third-party service providers to provide you with the features and services on the Platform. For example, we may hire or collaborate with third party contractors to help manage emails, and for that purpose we may provide them with your email address and certain other information in order for them to send you email messages on our behalf. Similarly, we may hire contractors to host or operate some of our websites and related computers and software applications. Access to your personally identifiable information by these contractors is limited to the information reasonably necessary to perform their limited function for us. We also require that these contractors protect the privacy of your personally identifiable information in a manner consistent with this Privacy Policy, and not use or disclose your personally identifiable information for any purpose other than providing us with products or services for which we contracted them. We may also allow third parties to place advertisements on the Platform.

We may share aggregate anonymous statistical non-personal information regarding the users of the Platform, traffic patterns, and Platform usage with our sponsors, patrons, or advertisers.

Additionally, we may periodically exchange member and/or supporter postal mailing lists with other organizations, who similarly provide us with their mailing lists. Mailing list exchanges provides the SOLEIF with a cost effective way to potentially expand our membership base by obtaining the names and addresses of other likely donors. Please note that we do not exchange or rent email addresses. If you prefer that we do not exchange your name and postal address, please email us at ContactUs@libertyellisfoundation.org with “do not exchange” in the subject line of the email, or call us at (212) 561-4500 and let us know that you do not want your name and address shared. In every case we will do our best to promptly respond to your request.
